Thank You for Making an Impact for National Tree Day

Dear Event Planner,

Thank you for planning an event for National Tree Day! It's a time to bring to the forefront the meaningful and tangible ways to take action on climate change and connect with nature.

Included in this toolkit is a guide to help you successfully plan your own event. This resource serves as a blueprint for individuals and organizations alike, empowering them to host impactful events in celebration of National Tree Day.

At Tree Canada, we firmly believe in the transformative power of trees to nurture the planet and our communities, now and in the future. As stewards of our environment, it is our collective responsibility to ensure the vitality of natural landscapes for generations to come.

Tree Canada is the only national non-profit organization dedicated to planting and nurturing trees in rural and urban environments. For National Tree Day, we prioritize community engagement and education that empowers Canadians to make change happen where they live and work. By celebrating this day, you are helping us achieve these goals. While we are planning planting events across the country, your efforts are helping reach people who may not otherwise be able to participate.

On behalf of all of us at Tree Canada, I extend my deepest gratitude to each of you for your commitment to community greening. Together, we will continue to make a meaningful difference in the world, one tree at a time!

Nicole Hurtubise
Chief Executive Officer, Tree Canada

Getting Started

Here are some key things you will need to consider as you plan your event:

ORGANIZE A COMMITTEE

It's more difficult to plan alone. If you are an organization, you likely have a team to support you. As an individual, you can gather family, friends, or other passionate individuals in the community to form a committee.

CREATE A PLAN

Plan out your event in detail. Determine what kind of event you would like to do. This guide contains information on how to organize a community tree care event.

DELEGATE

Now that you have an idea of what kind of event you are planning, it's time to assign and delegate tasks prior to and during your event. Create a comprehensive checklist and assign each to a person.

BUDGET

Creating a budget is an important part of the planning process. It helps you to create a financial goal for your event (depending on the event), as well as plan for expenses. Brainstorm and identify your possible sources of income (ticket sales, sponsorship, etc.) and an estimate of all potential expenses, including venue costs, decoration, food, and entertainment.

DOCUMENT THE EVENT

Plan to document your event with photos and videos. This is often a forgotten step, but it is very important to consider in planning your event. These photos and videos don't even need to be professional. They will support your future events. Just be sure it is clear that anyone participating in your event agrees to have their image captured.

Community Tree Care Activity

Tree care activities are essential for maintaining the health and longevity of our urban and natural forests, ensuring that trees continue to provide crucial environmental benefits such as improved air quality, habitat for wildlife, and aesthetic beauty. Engaging in tree care on National Tree Day offers a meaningful way to celebrate by actively contributing to their well-being. These activities not only enhance community green spaces but also foster a sense of stewardship and environmental responsibility among participants. By dedicating time and effort to the upkeep of existing trees, we honour their role in our ecosystems and promote a culture of care and conservation.

Below is a checklist of everything you will need to host your own community tree care activity for National Tree Day.

Community Tree Care Event Checklist

○ PICK YOUR SITE

Identify a site where you would like to host your community tree care event, whether it be a park, school grounds, or a community space like a library or community centre.

○ OBTAIN PERMISSIONS

Identify the landowner (e.g., municipality, school board) and request their permission to organize a community tree care on their land.

How do you identify a landowner?

- Search for a title in the land registry located at the end of this toolkit.
- Ask your municipality if they are aware.

You can use the template provided at the end of this document to request use of the land.

○ DETERMINE CARE TASKS

Be sure to ask the landowner for the current maintenance activities schedule and ensure your plans align with the trees' needs. Think about which trees or areas will be involved and the specific care tasks to be performed.

- Weeding: Remove weeds and invasive plants that may compete with trees for resources
- Mulching: Apply mulch around the base of trees to retain moisture, suppress weeds, and regulate soil temperature
- Watering: Water trees if necessary, especially in dry conditions or for newly planted trees

Learn more about tree care beyond planting in this blog article.

○ DETERMINE EQUIPMENT NEEDED

List the tools volunteers will need for the event (e.g., gloves, shovels). Consider the necessary safety equipment.

○ BUDGET

Calculate how much this activity will cost, bearing in mind the price of all the maintenance materials, such as mulch. You may need to purchase equipment if the landowner cannot provide it. Estimating the overall cost of your activity ahead of time will help establish realistic fundraising targets and ensure you are budgeting for every important step.

○ SET A DATE

After getting permission from the landowner, pick an event date far enough in advance to gather the volunteers you will need.

○ REQUEST VOLUNTEERS

Once your event is scheduled, you can use Tree Canada's National Tree Day promotional tools to gather volunteers for the day of your event. Promotional signage can help direct volunteers and passers-by to your stewardship site on the day itself.

○ OPTIONAL CONSIDERATIONS

- Invite an expert to demonstrate and explain the importance of the stewardship activities.
- Provide food and drink for volunteers to encourage attendance.
- Prepare some educational resources that people can refer to after the event, or direct volunteers to Tree Canada's website, where they can find an abundance of resources to learn more about trees and their importance.

Promotion and Marketing

Once you have planned and scheduled your event, it's time to promote it!

Timing: For public events seeking volunteers, aim to promote at least one month in advance to ensure ample participation from the community.

Gather Your Assets

Create a Compelling Poster: Design a poster with a clear call to action, such as “Come plant with us!”, “Join us!”, or “Volunteer with us!” This visual should grab attention and convey the essence of your event.

Utilize Visual Content: Leverage photos and videos from past events to showcase the experience and generate interest on social media!

National Tree Day Assets: Tree Canada is happy to provide general promotional materials for National Tree Day events. All assets, including usage guidelines and key messages, can be downloaded here.

Register Your Event with Tree Canada

Tree Canada Website: Register your National Tree Day event on the Tree Canada website to be entered into a draw for a free community planting event. Events must take place during National Forest Week to be eligible. Visit the Tree Canada website to fill out the registration form, indicating whether your event is public or private, and upload posters or photos.

Promote Your Event

a) Share Your Event on Multiple Platforms

Amplify your event's reach by sharing it with local newsletters, blogs, and social media platforms.

Event Management Platforms: Promoting your event on a suitable platform facilitates managing attendee interest and offers a straightforward and secure registration process. Some platforms offer free services for events that do not charge for participation.

Outreach: Engage local community networks to spread the word. Find our Event Outreach Template at the end of this document to help you with outreach.

b) Engage on Social Media

Create an event listing on your organization's Facebook page. Encourage participants to share and mark their interest.

To get the most out of organic social media posts on any platform, be sure to post regularly. This does not always need to be about the event, but could be about the activities occurring at the event, highlighting key personas involved, sharing information and facts to encourage attendance, etc.

Tag Tree Canada: Mention @TreeCanada and use the hashtags #NationalTreeDay and #NTD across all platforms to increase visibility. See examples at the end of this document.

c) Local Media

Contact local newspapers, radio stations, and TV channels to promote your event. Provide detailed event information and explain why it matters to your community. Media outlets may feature your event free of charge if it supports a charitable cause! Find our Local Media Template at the end of this document to support you with outreach.

Volunteer Management

Volunteer management may be a key element of your event, such as if you are hosting a cleanup or a tree planting event. Here are key things to consider:

Recruiting Volunteers

Define Roles and Responsibilities: Clearly outline the tasks and responsibilities for the volunteer role(s). This may be a few simple lines, but it is important to be clear about what they are registering for.

Provide Clear Instructions for Registering: Include instructions on how interested individuals can apply to volunteer for the event in your communications. Make it easy for them to express interest and provide the necessary information.

Managing Volunteers

Orientation: Conduct an orientation session to introduce volunteers to the event goals, their roles, and expectations. This could be detailed training on specific tasks or safety protocols, or a quick reminder of the agenda for the day and any information they need to know before the event begins.

Communicate Effectively: Maintain open communication channels with volunteers before, during, and after the event. Provide contact information and encourage volunteers to ask questions or raise concerns. Establish clear lines of communication, such as a dedicated email address, group messaging app, or phone number, where volunteers can reach out for assistance or clarification.

Provide Support and Recognition: Offer support throughout the event, such as breaks, refreshments, and access to necessary resources. Recognize and appreciate volunteers' contributions.

Post-Event Follow-Up

Be sure to publicly thank everyone involved once the event is over! Express gratitude to everyone who contributed to the event's success, including sponsors, volunteers, speakers, and attendees. This helps in maintaining positive relationships and encourages continued support for future events.

Feedback Collection

Send a survey to anyone who attended your event. Be sure to include questions that help gauge how much everyone enjoyed themselves and ask if they would attend again in the future. This provides an opportunity to gather feedback from attendees, participants, and stakeholders. This feedback is invaluable for assessing the event's success, understanding what worked well, and identifying areas for improvement in future events.

Frequently Asked Questions

Do I need to get my event approved by Tree Canada?

Your event doesn't need to be approved to celebrate National Tree Day!

Can I use Tree Canada's logo?

No, but you may use the National Tree Day logo and associated graphic assets to help promote your event. The logo and all assets can be downloaded from our website.

Do you have any graphic assets to help me share my event, and how do I get them?

You may use the National Tree Day logo and graphic assets to help you share your event. The logo and all assets can be downloaded from our website.

Will Tree Canada help organize events?

Our priority is to focus our resources on Tree Canada planting events across the country for National Tree Day. We have created this Third-Party Event Toolkit to help you start planning your event.

Is Tree Canada able to support any third-party event expenses?

It is the responsibility of the event organizers to create a budget and manage it accordingly for all expenses.

Can Tree Canada provide volunteers for a third-party event?

It is the responsibility of the event organizers to recruit, train and manage all volunteers.

Can Tree Canada provide sponsorship contacts to support third-party events?

Tree Canada cannot solicit sponsors or provide sponsor lists for third-party events. It is the responsibility of the event organizer to request support to underwrite costs.

Who is responsible for all liability and legal risks associated with my event?

Tree Canada has no direct involvement with National Tree Day third-party events and will not be responsible for any damage or accidents to any persons or property; we will not assume any legal or financial liability caused before, during or after the event.

Can Tree Canada provide insurance for my event?

Because Tree Canada has no direct involvement with running third-party events, we cannot provide insurance. The event organizer is responsible for obtaining insurance for the event.

Can Tree Canada help me get a permit for my event?

The organization and execution of the event are the responsibility of the event organizer. The event organizer must obtain any necessary permits or licenses.

Can I use Tree Canada's tax exemption number?

Because Tree Canada is not hosting your event, it is considered a third-party event. You will not be able to use Tree Canada's charitable classification, federal tax ID number, or tax-exempt certificate.

Will Tree Canada help promote third-party events?

Tree Canada is happy to provide a space on the events section of the website as well as share any posts where the organization is mentioned on social media. Tree Canada may choose to highlight some events in the monthly newsletter. Any additional promotion is up to the event organizers.

How can interested attendees donate to Tree Canada?

You may direct any interested donors to the Tree Canada website to make donations directly at <https://treecanada.ca/donate-nationaltreeday/>. If you would like to host a fundraising event, please do so through the JustGiving platform.

Thank you.

Thank you so much for hosting a third-party event to support our organization's mission of growing better places to live. Your willingness to contribute your time, energy, and resources makes a significant impact on your community.

By hosting an event, you're not only raising awareness but also fostering community engagement. Your dedication is instrumental in creating positive change across the country.

We invite you to stay connected to Tree Canada for future opportunities to get involved or support our work. Whether it's through volunteering or spreading the word about our initiatives, every contribution counts.

Please feel free to subscribe to our newsletter or follow us on social media to stay updated on upcoming events, success stories, and ways you can continue to make a difference.

Together, we can create a brighter and greener future for generations to come.

Letter of Land Use Request Template

[Landowner's Name]

[Landowner's Address]

[City, Province, Postal Code]

Dear [Landowner's Name],

I hope this letter finds you well. My name is [Your Name], and I am writing to you with a humble request regarding your property [provide a brief description of the location or any identifiable features].

I have a strong passion for environmental conservation and the greening of our local urban environment, and I am reaching out to you today to request permission to host a community tree care activity on your land. This initiative aims to promote the health and sustainability of our local trees through activities such as mulching, watering and weeding. I believe that by maintaining and caring for these trees, we can significantly contribute to the well-being of our local ecosystem and the overall beauty of the area.

Trees provide numerous benefits, including combating climate change by sequestering carbon dioxide, offering habitat and food for wildlife, preventing soil erosion, and enhancing air and water quality. Additionally, a well-maintained green space can improve the aesthetic appeal of the landscape and positively impact property value.

I want to assure you that all aspects of this activity will be handled responsibly. I will oversee the event, ensuring proper care and maintenance of the trees and respecting any guidelines you may have. I am also open to discussing any specific preferences you might have regarding tree care, such as the types of trees, activity boundaries, or a maintenance schedule.

I understand that allowing tree care activities on your property is a significant decision, and I sincerely appreciate your consideration. Please feel free to contact me at [Your Phone Number] or [Your Email Address] if you have any questions or need further information.

Thank you very much for considering this request. I look forward to your response and hope for the opportunity to work together to enhance the green spaces on your property.

Warm regards,
